Frequently Asked Questions

About Your Eternapure Business

How much money can I expect to earn as an Independent Representative?

The earning opportunity associated with an Eternapure business is individual and unique, so it is impossible to guarantee that a certain level of income can be earned. The amount of money you can make as an Eternapure Independent Representative will depend on many factors, such as your goals, time invested and business expenses.

How much time does it take?

Work on your terms. As an Independent Representative, you are your own boss, so you get to decide what time works for you. You determine your own schedule and the rate at which you want to build to achieve more.

How much inventory do I need to purchase as a new Independent Representative?

Representatives are not required to carry an inventory of Eternapure products for resale. Representatives are encouraged to direct their customers to their Eternapure replicated websites to place their orders for Eternapure products. Products ordered via a Representative's replicated website are direct shipped from the Company to the customer and the Representative receives the retail sales commissions and sales volume associated with such purchases.
